Unique Aspects of Iraq at UNCSW

Aspect	Description
Post-Conflict Gender Reconstruction	Iraq is putting a strong focus on bringing women into the fold of post-conflict reconstruction, shining a light on their vital contributions to peacebuilding and national reconciliation.
Legal Reforms for Women's Rights	The country has made strides in legal reforms to tackle problems like domestic violence, with the goal of bringing its laws in line with international standards for gender equality.
Women's Political Participation	Iraq has taken steps to boost women's representation in politics, introducing a quota system designed to guarantee their involvement in the Council of Representatives.
Addressing Gender-Based Violence	Iraq is taking significant steps to tackle gender-based violence. This includes launching initiatives aimed at supporting survivors and preventing harmful practices such as honor killings and female genital mutilation.
Collaboration with Civil Society	The government works hand in hand with NGOs and civil society groups to champion women's rights and offer essential services like shelters and legal support.

Focus on Education and Employment	Iraq is working hard to enhance women's access to education and job opportunities because we understand how crucial these factors are for achieving gender equality.
Cultural Sensitivity in Gender Policies	Iraq's strategy for promoting gender equality takes into account the cultural and religious backgrounds of its people, striving to create policies that are not only effective but also resonate with local traditions.
