Unique Aspects of Malaysia at UNCSW

Aspect	Description
Active Participation in UNCSW	Malaysia has been a regular participant in UNCSW sessions, actively engaging in global conversations about gender equality and the empowerment of women.
Commitment to Beijing Declaration	Malaysia is reaffirming its dedication to the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action, with a strong focus on speeding up efforts toward achieving gender equality.
Legislative Improvements	The country has taken significant steps forward with laws like the Domestic Violence Act of 1994, aimed at safeguarding women's rights.
Challenges in Political Representation	Even though we've made some strides, the number of women in political roles is still quite disappointing, with just 13.5% of parliamentary seats occupied by women as of February 2024.
Focus on Violence Against Women	Malaysia has put in place legal frameworks to tackle violence against women, achieving a notable 66.7% in promoting, enforcing, and monitoring gender equality in this crucial area.
Gender Inequality Index Ranking	Malaysia sits at 59th place out of 162 countries on the Gender Inequality Index, which shows there's still a lot of work to be done to achieve true gender equality.
Support for Single Mothers	Malaysia is stepping up to offer more support for single mothers, focusing on their specific challenges and needs.
